

OUR Chisholm Trail Heritage Center NEWSLETTER JULY 2014

Our Mission: "To celebrate and perpetuate the history, art and culture of the Chisholm Trail, the American Cowboy and the American West."

Roping them in for National Day of the Cowboy

Our focus this year for National Day of the Cowboy is celebrating the Native American cowboy and the life and art of Apache artist Allan Houser, who would have been 100 years old this year.

NDOC is a state-recognized holiday and also a free admission day here at the Heritage Center.

There will be entertainment, games and even a photo booth this year!

Jordan Beartrack, 10, is an award-winning Powwow dancer, from Apache, and performs in many competitions. He will perform at 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Throughout the day, there will be Native American music. A cowboy day wouldn't be complete without a cowboy and this year, tie-down roper champ Shane Slack of Idabel, Okla., will be here from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to have his picture taken and sign some autographs.

Slack, 38, is a Choctaw and a PRCA Tie Down Roping Champion, and former Indian National Finals Rodeo All Around Champion. Slack was at the top of his game nearly 18 years ago, when he was only 21, but then some life issues detoured him. Now he's back in the arena and earned his right to rope at the NFR in December 2013.

There will be plenty of family fun activities throughout the entire day.

Be watching our Facebook for more details as the calendar moves closer to National Day of the Cowboy.

PRCA Tie Down Roping Champion Shane Slack will be our featured guest at National Day of Cowboy July 26.

TACK & TOGS

ENCOURAGING YOUTH ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Madison Allen, 10, has created a line of wonderful smelling bath salts and they are now available in our gift shop. Madison, who lives in Blanchard, receives her education in a homeschool atmosphere.

This gives her an opportunity to learn entrepreneurship skills. "Lemonaturals" is her bath salt business, using all natural essential oils and she has several "flavors" - lemon, peppermint, lavender, to name a few. They sell for $7.95 a jar.

"She is such a little salesperson," says Executive Director Stacy Cramer Moore, who met Madison at the state homeschool convention earlier this year.

Madison visited us recently, and is seen above in our gift shop, showing one of her "Lemonaturals" products.

New in our Gift Shop!

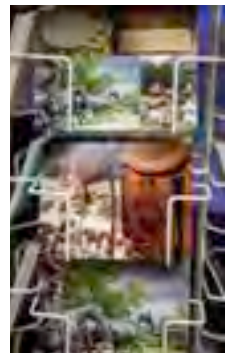

Are you a deltiologist? Deltiology is the hobby of collecting postcards and according to some websites, it is considered to be in the three largest hobbies in the world.

We now have custom in-house designed postcards featuring displays and exhibits at the museum.

These are available in our gift shop and they bear the Chisholm Trail Heritage Center's official logo on the back of each postcard, along with information about the image on the front.

The idea of postcards dates to 1865 in Germany - a year after Jesse Chisholm marked the Chisholm Trail for trading purposes.

Do you know when the first postcard issued by the United States Postal Service was? Find the answer on the back of this newsletter!

SUMMER FUN AT THE MUSEUM

Education Coordinator Leah Mulkey and Jolene Beartrack of Apache share a laugh as Jolene relates a story about her friendship with Allan Houser's niece.

We've had a great start to our summer programs with more than four dozen attendees at the Crapemyrtle Care class with Carolyn Rodgers, 60 Girl Scouts from around the state of Oklahoma came for Girl Scout Day, and about a dozen participants heard the tales of Justin Finley and became "diggers" in the metal detecting program. But our summer programs have just begun. See below and on the next page for more details! Come have fun with us this summer!
